PROJECT DETAILS

The Qurbani project is implemented annually by Islamic Relief South Africa (IRSA) and involves the distribution of meat packs during the festive celebration of Eid-ul-Adha.

Muslims are obligated to donate money, which is used to procure livestock for slaughter, slicing, and packaging. The meat packs are then distributed to impoverished families in some of the poorest areas on behalf of donors.

Islamic Relief South Africa has an obligation to comply with policies and laws that govern processes or actions potentially affecting or endangering natural resources, including the environment. Consequently, this will be considered during the implementation of the Qurbani Project to ensure adherence to national standards.

The expected impact of this program is to alleviate hunger among vulnerable families by providing protein rich food. The project is also expected to strengthen IRSA's relationships with local communities.

REQUIREMENTS & SCOPE

Islamic Relief South Africa wishes to appoint Service Provider/s to take on the significant responsibility of supplying, safeguarding, feeding, and storing cows/bulls, as well as slaughtering, skinning, cleaning, cutting, packaging, and cold storing meat for the Qurbani 2025 implementation programme in Cape Town.
